VISAGE — FACE WITH A VIEW

FROM THE CURATOR

I can't stifle a smile every time I hear Talking Head's love paean This Must be the Place (Naïve Melody). The trigger is David Byrne singing, "out of all those kinds of people, you got a face with a view." Shoot me. I couldn't resist.

Faces fill the Cassilhaus Collection. More than sixty percent of its works are portraits and a large subset of those explore the depth and complexity of facial expression whether presented by the subject or elicited by the artist. Eyes that light up, eyes look through you. This is the largest survey exhibition we've presented to date, entirely from the collection, with one hundred works by over eighty artists across five media.

Putting this show together has, at times, been an emotional walk down memory lane as stories, remembrances, and artists who have become friends all fold together. The works in the show by Mimmo Jodice and Michael Prince were two of the first pieces that started me on my collecting journey 23 years ago. They still make me smile and fill my heart. I spent seven years like a bloodhound tracking down a print of Sally Mann's Candy Cigarette while Torben Eskerod's Portrait of Liv Carlé blindsided me and jumped in my lap when I was running in the other direction. Did I find you or you find me? And each time the old guard comes out to play with newer and different pieces, they offer up something new. There is deep history on these walls.

The less we say about it the better. Make it up as we go along.

These exhibitions don't come together by themselves. Christina Wytko has touched virtually every aspect of this show from framing, glazing, hanging, painting, lighting, producing this epic gallery guide, and agreeing to moderate a panel discussion with several artists represented. I am indebted to her and she has rendered herself indispensable at Cassilhaus. Heather Evans Smith designed our beautiful show graphics again. My talented young cousin Caroline Lorio jumped in as lighting intern and was an astonishingly quick study. There is no Cassilhaus event without Ellen Cassilly and her touches and insights are everywhere including the installation of an eighty-four foot string of artists' names around the baseboards of the main gallery. My greatest debt, however, is to the scores of artists who made this revelatory work with love, vision, soul, and faces with views that don't stop. I guess I must be having fun.

If someone asks, this is where I'll be.
